FRESHMEN WELCOMING BANQUET IS SET FOR TUESDAY IN KIMBALL

Peter J. Sanderson, '54, chairman of the Purple Key, today announced that the official welcoming of the freshman class will take place next Tuesday night, October 13 at 6 p.m. at the annual Student-Faculty banquet in Kimball Hall.

Very Reverend Bernard R. Boyan, S.J., Acting Rector, will deliver the main address. John F. Summa, '54, Key member, will act as toastmaster.

Members of the student body will invite their individual professors; they will then sit with the students at selected tables. The present dining hall seating arrangements will be effected the night of the banquet.

Guests at the head table will include: Very Rev. James E. FitzGerald, S.J., Dean of the College; Rev. Leo A. Shea, S.J., Dean of freshman and sophomores; Rev. Jeremiah J. Donovan, S.J., Dean of men; Captain John A. Glick, USN, and Colonel James A. Murray, USAF.

Dinner music will be provided by local combo.

In order to help the Purple Patch staff fully cover last year's Junior Prom, the TOMAHAWK has been asked to publish an appeal for pictures. Anyone having pictures of any part of the week-end's festivities—either Friday, Saturday or Sunday Prom Week—is requested to cooperate. Give the pictures to either Lawrence J. Eagan, '54, Carlin 323, or Kenneth A. O'Brien, '54, Carlin 309. All photos will be returned.

FAMOUS GAELIC LECTURER TO OPEN CROSS AND SCROLL SERIES

Alice Curtayne, "the ablest woman speaker in Ireland today," will inaugurate this year's lecture series sponsored by the Cross and Scroll Society next Thursday night at 8 p.m. in Kimball Hall.

Queen Contest, Dance To Spark Homecoming

A Queen will reign over homecoming week end, the Purple Patch Dance Committee announced yesterday. The name of the lucky girl will be announced at the Purple Patch Dance on October 31, after a two-and-a-half week contest beginning October 12. Representatives on every corridor will collect the photographs, which can be of any size or color, and anyone's date is eligible.

Crowley To Choose Finalists

Bill Crowley, Crusader Publicity Director, will choose the five finalists, and this bevy of beauties will preside over the half-time festivities.

Last year, when the Purple and Orange clashed, Syracuse won, 20-19, and went on to win the Lambert Trophy as the top-rated Eastern team. This year, the Crusaders meet the Orange in a contest that promises to be equally as colorful as last year's game.

The annual Purple Patch Dance will highlight the Homecoming Festivities. Slated to begin at 8 p.m., the affair will feature the music of Hal Reeves. This Boston combination played at last year's Patcher Dance, as well as at the Military Ball. Thomas F. Nuss, '54, Chairman of the Dance, has emphasized the importance of obtaining accommodations early. The Queen and her escort will receive a free week end.

Queen Contest, Dance To Spark Homecoming

Mrs. Curtayne will speak on "The Fashioning Clay of Ireland," a clear-eyed evaluation of Ireland today against the background of its heritage—and an absorbing glimpse of its future.

Born in County Kerry

The speaker was born in Tralee, County Kerry. Before she was out of her teens, she set off for three years study in Italy—and she fell in love with both Dante and St. Catherine of Siena. She supported herself by working for an American importer. When he was transferred to Liverpool she went along—and discovered the then-infant Catholic Evidence Guild. Her meeting with its leaders Frank Sheed and Maisie Ward shaped the course of her future.

H. C. Corridors Name S. G. Representatives

Holy Cross students went to the polls last night and elected their Student Government corridor representatives for the coming year. Voting in general was heavy, and the margins of victory varied greatly.

On Carlin I, James G. Wallace, won over Robert G. Dalury; James L. Hughes, defeated Robert J. Pollock on Carlin II, and Cornelius F. Murphy, won out unopposed on third Carlin.

In Alumni, Robert B. Casey, '54, won unopposed on the first floor; Richard C. Casey, '55, won over James M. Brown, '55, on Alumni II, and Barry W. Brandt, '55, defeated Joseph L. Supple, '55, on the third floor.

Winners in Beaven were Robert E. Smith, unopposed on the first floor; Robert E. Hayes, over William J. Collier, on Beaven II, and Richard E. Onofrey, over Paul J. O'Keefe, on Beaven III.

Oliver J. De Jesu, '56, defeated John J. Beshoar, '56, on Wheeler I; Robert L. Mainzer, '56, defeated Cornelius B. Prior, '56, on Wheeler II; William J. Murphy, '56, defeated Charles E. Starkey, '56, on Wheeler III and Francis J. Paradiso, '56, won over Zane Rodriguez, '56, on Wheeler IV.

George W. White, '54, was unopposed in winning the Off-Campus Student vote. Francis J. Kelly won the Day Students' sophomore vote unopposed; Andrew A. Marsiello won over Stephan A. O'Shea in the Off-Campus junior vote and Henry J. Hehir won the Off-Campus senior vote over Russell E. Johnson.

The Freshman Class, which did not participate in the voting, will hold their elections in December.

Purple Key Bucknell Rally Tomorrow Night

Plans have been completed for the Crusader football team to surge forward to their third victory on a rising tide of cheers, the Purple Key announced yesterday. The school's spirit society will stage a rally for the team tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. in the Chapel Auditorium, and a host of classmates is expected.

John C. Weimer, '54, and William A. Riordan, '55, Co-Chairmen of the rally, announced today that the two principal speakers will be Rev. Raymond F. X. Cahill, S.J., and William J. Haley, '54, the speedy back who struck paydirt twice against Colgate.

The football band will render several selections, and the cheerleaders will co-ordinate the enthusiasm. Master of ceremonies Riordan will also introduce some surprise talent.

Heavy Bucknell Line To Test Cross Backs

BJF OPENS YEAR WITH FIRST DEBATE AGAINST FINE HARVARD TEAM

By Joe Pierce

The opening meeting of the Benedict Joseph Fenwick Debating Society was held last Wednesday evening in the Leonard Debating Chamber in the Library.

Louis A. Craco, '54, President of the society, announced the schedule of the debates to be held during the coming year, and the National topic which is: "Resolved: That the U.S. should adopt a policy of free trade." John B. Baxter, '55, and Craco will open the inter-collegiate season defending the negative of the national topic next Wednesday, against Harvard. On November 13 the B.J.F. will engage Brown University in a home-and-home debate on the topic: "Resolved: The U.S. should admit an unlimited number of immigrants." The West Point Cadets will play host to the Cross on December 4, for two debates on the question of free trade.

Father Cahill Gives Talk

The highlight of the evening was a lecture on international trade by Rev. Thomas E. Cahill, S.J., professor of the Economics Department. Father Cahill analyzed the debate topic by saying that it is a question of whether we are going to move towards "internationalism" or "strict nationalism."

Craco also announced the appointment of James L. Fahey, '54, as librarian. Fahey has compiled an exceptional library of facts, statistics, and a catalog of books pertaining to the national subject for use during the current season.

Bucknell University will supply the opposition as the Holy Cross Crusaders return to the campus for the first home game of the year on Saturday.

For the past three years, the Thundering Herd of Pennsylvania's Buffalo Valley has been on a highly successful stampede throughout the Middle Atlantic states, but this season the Herd has found its ranks vastly depleted. The June graduation ceremony is long gone and along with it Brad Myers and Burt Talmage, Bucknell's touchdown twins and 13 other varsity players. Myers, who is now with the Los Angeles Rams, last year retained his title as the leading ground gainer in the East. Yet, with this relatively dismal picture, the Bisons should favorably compare with last year's squad which ranked fourth in the East in pass defense. Offensively, the comparatively inexperienced backfield will be once again operating from the Split-T.

The line, which is perennially one of the heaviest in the East, collectively weighs three-quarters of a ton. The average is about 215 pounds per man. Jim Egloff, a senior tackle at 225 pounds, has continually proven himself a standout performer. Last

The students and faculty of the college extend their deepest sympathy to Joseph P. Walsh, '55, on the death of his father and to Professor Andrew Van Hook on the recent death of his Mother. They will be remembered in our prayers.

The New Chief Justice

Without any of the cheering and shouting of a political convention or excitement of a Presidential election, a man was chosen last week to fill the highest judicial office of the United States, that of Chief Justice. President Eisenhower announced that he had selected Governor Earl Warren of California to succeed the late Fred Vinson as the head of the Supreme Court. Considering how decisions handed down by the Supreme Court often affect the lives of every person in the country, the High Court's importance, and especially that of its Chief Justice, in the structure of the Federal Government is not accorded its proper due in the minds of most individuals.

One proof of this importance is the length of time justices hold office. Contrasted to other Federal officials, the position of Chief Justice is held for life. This is shown by the fact that Mr. Warren becomes fourteenth Chief Justice, while Mr. Eisenhower is the thirty-fourth President of the United States.

Although Mr. Warren is no celebrated jurist, and while it would have been more fitting to elevate a Federal judge to the Supreme Court, we feel that this appointment is one of very high quality. Mr. Warren, a former Attorney-General of California, is the only man to have been elected three times to the governorship of that state, being nominated by both Republicans and Democrats. He is known as a liberal and a man dedicated to social progress, progress through the will of the people, and not by a directive from a government agency. He must now serve as a steadying influence in a court of diversified philosophies. He is in a position to enhance the prestige of the Supreme Court and make it, in the minds of everyone, the most respected branch of the Federal Government.

Haze Around The Moon

Every once in a while a motion picture presented under the guise of entertainment reveals an inherent base nature. This raises the volatile question of censorship.

To those who so bitterly oppose motion picture censorship in any form, may we suggest that they are either deliberately or unconsciously immune to certain accepted norms of decency, morality, and taste.

It is quite a few years since Hollywood producers have tested the will of the American public to abstain from the rubbish which too often clutters our movie screens. Formerly, producers refused to release a film made without a Production Code seal. But film tycoons like Hughes, Rossellini, and now Herbert, have catered to the most base emotions for the purpose of padding their pocketbooks.

Certainly few will deny the popularity of the motion picture, especially one which seems to depict life in a very realistic fashion. Does the movie industry actually believe that Catholics, a sizable segment of the American movie-going public, will continue to tolerate indecency on the screen? We doubt it.

Currently an opus called "The Moon is Blue," a vicious tale of indiscretion, flashes from the nation's theatre marquees. Completely lacking subtlety, the film is openly advertised for exactly what it is.

One bright spot in an otherwise gloomy picture involves the vigorous action of the Legion of Decency, classifying "The Moon is Blue" as condemned for Catholics. We need not say more.

Is There A Remedy?

There is a situation existing at Holy Cross, that in the opinion of the faculty and student body alike is deplorable. We wonder if it is necessary and if it can be remedied.

The College, has it seems, two schools, that of the boarders and that of the day students. The unity and friendship that should exist between the two groups is fairly extinct. Is it because the day students are, to borrow the colloquialism, unavoidably "out of it?" Boarders receive daily announcements at lunch and via corridor grapevine. The day student must find out for himself, when and where student functions are occurring. Most of the school activities have no provision whereby the day-men can really meet their fellow classmates. The classroom remains as the only place where Worcester wanderers may become acquainted with the "other half" of the college. There must be some solution to this touchy problem. For, as long as it continues as it is . . . everyone is missing out.

We hope that some constructive suggestions will be offered on the subject.

SATURDAY'S MOVIE

"Arrowhead" (Technicolor)

Cast: Charlton Heston, Jack Palance, Mary Sinclair, Brien Keith, Katie Jurado.

Plot: Just after the Civil War, when the U.S. Government was trying to resettle the Indians on reservations, a white, Apache-raised, Army scout predicts Indian treachery in the negotiations for a treaty.

Comment: Ed Bannon spent his childhood among the Apaches, and in his mind the only good Apache was a dead one. When the government signs a peace treaty with the tribes and plans to move them to reservations, the wily Army scout makes a vain attempt to persuade the captain to act with caution. That the Apache chief's irate son is returning from an Eastern school the same day that the tribes are to be moved, is more than a mere coincidence to Bannon, who has known the young brave from childhood and knows he's not to be trusted. Sure enough, he leads the Indians in rebellion and there is much bloodshed. A fitting climax is a fatal hand-to-hand duel between the scout and his childhood enemy.

Charlton Heston is a bit too sure of himself as the man who knows all about Indians. Nevertheless, he turns in a fine performance. Jack Palance, "Shane's" gunfighter, does a great deal of deep breathing as the rebel brave. There's a strange fascination in his fiendish grin that dominates all attention when he's on the screen.

CROSSBARS

By Jack Gibbons

We think it's about time someone made mention of the little-known secretaries in the Fenwick offices. Just today one of them reminded me of the overwhelming amount of transcripts that are sent to graduate school every year around this time. We always imagined that transcript typing would be kind of easy since only six letters (A to F inclusive) are required. As a matter of fact, if the last two or three letters are used frequently, someone's record, it might be better if the fellow forgot about transcripts and the like and settled for becoming a philosopher or something. You eliminate the D-E-F sort of scholar, only three fingers would be needed for the ordinary transcript typing day. This leaves (usually) seven fingers to attend to such matters as manicures, cross word puzzles, and open bobby pins.

Seriously, though, the girls in the various offices are universal swells and we would encourage all of you to get to know them. It might as well, because we'd bet pounds to shillings they know your friend of ours kept steady company with one office worker for three months. They parted bitterly, however, when the young man found out that his secretary was aware of all his academic, disciplinary, and social failings. "The records," she used to say "never lie." Somehow we feel a little uncomfortable when we step into one of the administrative offices.

SCRIBBLES SCRIBBLED DURING SCRABBLE: It's amazing how people will surrender a free seat in the students' section, and three dollars for a student-date ticket that puts them in the east end zone . . . No all the funny looking radio aerials bristling around Carlin? . . . Congratulations to the D.O. for discovering that there is no Father Ormer on the faculty. The man who registered as his permanent server has been given a Mass assignment and will be in attendance this Saturday.

The ladies of the campus laundry from a long association with college sheets (have you marked yours?) have taken to calling students by the numbers of their post office boxes. Last week we overheard the following confusing conversation:

"I'm 645, ma'm, but I don't want my sheets; I'm here to pick up my stuff. 187 rooms with 1165 who forgot to mark his sheets. Now 1164's pillow case but returned it by mistake to 783 who is my room mate. Now 783 has two pillow cases which won't do because he only has one pillow. So 783 took 187's pillow so he could use 1164's pillow case. 1164 . . . you say you have 1772's pillow slip in 187's box and a mat that belongs to the infirmary. O.K. I'll take those and trade you a sheet and a 411 pillow case which is marked 617 because . . ."

. . . For the information of those students who have not had Mathematics 22.1, the Do-Rite Laundry offers good service on sheets for reasonable rates.

Dramatic Society To Offer Best Films; Billy Budd, Bernardine

Once again Holy Cross men will have the opportunity to witness several productions of dramatic importance presented by the members of the Dramatic Society.

At a meeting of the society held last week, President Lawrence H. Schell, '54, announced the theatrical schedule for the school year 1953-54. The first production will be the currently popular play of naval life aboard an English warship entitled "Billy Budd." This play will run November 14, 16, and 17. Scheduled for February 13, 15, and 16 are principal scenes from Shakespeare's immortal "Macbeth."

Popular Comedy

The society will welcome the springtime with its version of "Bernardine," the most popular comedy on Broadway last year. This will take place early in April. Another spring presentation will be a series of original and non-original one-act plays, under the direction of Peter J. Bellanca, '55. A meeting of all members interested in this production will be held in the near future.

In addition to these plays, this year the society will continue its presentation of the "Best Films" series. Four outstanding pictures are slated for October 28, December 2, January 6, and March 17. Possession of a season ticket will be necessary for admission to these films. Tickets are on sale for $2.00 at the bookstore.

A different form of entertainment will find the Dramatic Society in the audience for a change. In January,

CRA, OUTING CLUB TO PRESENT STAG DANCE IN GYM ON OCTOBER 17

The Holy Cross Outing Club and the Career Research Associates will sponsor the first Stag Dance of the 1953 football season on Saturday evening, October 17, the eve of the Quantico Marines game.

Invitations have been sent out to over 500 girls from Newton, Regis, Albertus Magnus, Our Lady of the Elms and other leading New England Colleges. Dancing will be from 8:00 p.m. till midnight in the Fieldhouse.

John W. Spillane, '54, and John T. Strain, '55, were recently appointed co-chairmen by Robert J. Fitzpatrick, '54, and Kenneth A. O'Brien, '54, the respective presidents of the Outing Club and the CRA. They have announced that tickets will go on sale in the Post Office next week and will also be available at the door that evening. The price of the tickets will be $1.20 and arrangements have been made with the Discipline Office to obtain late permissions for all those who attend.

Mr. John H. Driscoll, '35, will give an informal lecture to members and guests. Mr. Driscoll will speak on the professional work of playwriting in radio and television. For several years this Holy Cross graduate has directed the radio program "Cavalcade of America," as well as directing several Hollywood films, including "The Hucksters."

Principal Roles

Tryouts for the casting of "Billy Budd" were held last Monday. Some of the principal roles are held by Peter J. Bellanca, '55, William J. McDonough, '56, Robert J. Ghisays, '55, Robert J. King, '55, and John R. (Turn to Page Eight)

SHARPS and FLATS

By Bill Kane

No sooner had registration been completed when the music studio once again began to buzz with activity. The band, with 21 Freshman recruits, started the year off with six practice sessions, and it's no news now how successful they were on the nationwide TV hookup.

At the head of the list of new appointments was the announcement by the Rector that Rev. Joseph E. Mullen, S.J., was to succeed Rev. Joseph J. Shea, S.J., as moderator of the Music Clubs. Fr. Mullen, who has studied at Shadowbrook and Weston, taught mathematics at Holy Cross during his regency and in 1951-52. During his tertianship he studied in England and Ireland, and prior to that he ran the summer camp at Cranwell for two years.

Other new appointments include Bob Luddy, '54, as manager of the glee club, Dan Gorman, '54, as leader of the "Paks," Bob Hennessy, '56, as assistant manager of the band, and that small but colorful chap, Kev Conway, '54, as accompanist and student director of the glee club.

Monday the following were selected to play in the dance band: Sax section—Dick Guthrie, '54, Bob Sulick, '54, Tony Guertin, '54, Gene Tansey, '55, Ed DiPrete, '55; Trumpets—Ray Gaito, '54, Dave Isselhard, '55, Dick Bolger, '57, Larry Tremblay, '57; Trombones—Ted Traynor, '54, Spike Veayo, '56; Piano—Frank Mazzio, '54; Bass—"Wild Bill" Shea, '55; and Leader and Drums—Eddy Robinson, '54.

JUNIORS NAME SIXTEEN MEN TO COUNCIL GROUP

The junior class went to the polls last night to elect members of the Junior Council, an organization which will act as an advisory board to the four class officers and whose chief function will be the election of the Chairman of the Junior Promenade in May.

Voting was heavy and Alumni Hall first reported returns of the election. First Alumni elected John J. McDermott, Jr. and Francis P. Bensel. Second Alumni gave majority votes to Donald J. Ross and Wilbur J. Mattura and third Alumni cast their ballots in favor of Joseph E. Mullaney and William A. Riordan.

First Beaven gave its support to Vincent P. Genecco and Gerald A. Giblin. Second Beaven backed Edmund P. Tobin, Jr. and Joseph J. Reilly. Guy R. Peznola, Jr. and Robert E. Rigby won out on third Beaven.

Day student representatives are Charles A. Boyce, William J. Barnhardt, Steven A. O'Shea and Gerald F. Donoghue.

The Council will hold its first organizational meeting tomorrow evening to discuss the selection of the Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager of the 1955 Purple Patcher. Their choices will be pending the approval of Very Rev. James E. FitzGerald, S. J., Dean of the College and the President of the Junior Class, William P. Gelnow.

HOW THE STARS GOT STARTED ☆☆☆

Patrice Munsel says: "When I was a kid, I wanted to be a lady football player. Then I dreamed of another career—whistling! Somebody discovered I had a voice, so I took singing lessons. I worked hard at it—then I won the Metropolitan Opera auditions when I was 17."

EDGEMERE LODGE SITE OF WORCESTER CLUB'S COLUMBUS DAY PICNIC

Approximately 100 couples attended the autumn dance sponsored by the Worcester Undergraduate Club at the Hillcrest Country Club last Saturday night.

Music, provided by genial George Gregory, his piano and orchestra, featured a lively version of Ray Anthony's new "Bunny Hop" and some torrid Dixieland numbers, along with the usual soft and slow ballads. Special undergraduate entertainment was furnished by Eddie Cronin, who sang, and Mike Murphy, who performed an authentic "circa 1925" Charleston.

With proceeds going to the Orphan Scholarship Fund, which will provide Holy Cross scholarships to the orphans at the Nazareth Home for Boys, the dance was both a social and financial success, and the Worcester Club is now looking forward to its upcoming Columbus Day outing at Edgemere Lodge. The day will include volley ball and softball games, a buffet supper and an evening dance. Tickets for both day students and boarders are on sale in the Day Room for $3.60 per couple.

Henry J. Hehir, '54, and Gerald F. Donoghue, '55, were co-chairmen of the dance. The Worcester Club has as its moderator, Rev. Raymond F. X. Cahill, S.J.

McGoldrick Explains Homecoming To Frosh

In a meeting of the Freshman Class, held last Thursday, temporary Class President David T. McGoldrick, '54, explained to the frosh the Homecoming Week activities. Emphasizing the importance of a good freshman display, he gave a sample suggestion as to the type of display wanted and asked those with other ideas to see him personally.

President McGoldrick also explained several regulations which he had found to be troubling many freshmen.

In closing he complimented the boarders on the responses to the appeal for funds for the class treasury, singling for particular praise the corridor representatives who donated their time to collect the money. The off-campus and day students, who had not yet been solicited, were then instructed as to the procedure to follow in paying their dues.

Edward F. S. Deignan, '55, of Belmont, Mass., was appointed to the post of re-write Editor of the TOMAHAWK last night. Deignan, a B.S. Business Administration student, replaces Thomas T. Vogel, '55, who resigned in September after switching into the pre-medical course during the summer.

FR. CUMMINGS, S.J., SETS FIRST MEETING OF FROSH DEBATORS

The first meeting of the Freshman Debating Society will be held Tuesday, October 27. Fr. Patrick J. Cummings, S.J., moderator of the debate club, has set the time of the meeting for 6:30 until 7:30 in Room 17, O'Kane. The early time, which will continue each Tuesday throughout the year, has been established to avoid conflict with other evening activities.

All members of the Freshman class are invited to become members. Fr. Cummings has emphasized that those without previous speech or debate experience are particularly urged to join the club.

The opening meetings will stress an opportunity for all to speak. Open forums will occupy the first few sessions. Later, teams will be formed, and the debating will begin in earnest. Separate topics of current interest will be chosen each week.

Day Student Sodality Begins Rosary Series

The Day Students Sodality assembled at the Shrine of Our Lady on Thursday, October 1, for the first of a series of Rosary devotions to be held at the shrine each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday during October.

The regular Sodality meetings were begun on Monday, September 27, and they will be continued on Monday throughout the school year with Benediction being celebrated Friday. All exercises are held immediately after fourth period.

This year's program promises to be an active one, with plans being made for addresses by various faculty members and panel discussions by the sodalists.

he was rated by Grantland Rice one of the East's best defensive players. Other experienced men in the front ranks are Bob Antkowiak, end; Ron Lloyd, left tackle; Paul Septanz, center; Hank Popek, right end; Ken Tashjy, right end and this year's captain from New Britain, Bill Gray.

However, Coach Harry Lawrence does not found the backfield picture clear as that of the line. The soundness is due in part to the departure of Myers and Talmage. The returning backfield men with considerable experience are Ken Adamec, quarterback, and Bob Dee, fullback. Lawrence, confronted with this problem, successfully converted Chironna, a former AP All-American second team guard, to halfback in Fall. In the Bison's victorious game with Buffalo, Chironna scored the touchdown and gained 87 yards, the exact rushing yardage of the entire Buffalo team. This feat was recognized by the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association as one of the outstanding performances of the week, along with that of the Crusader's Jack Carroll.

The current confusion created by the scrapping of the two-platoon system has not adversely affected the team. Because of the relatively small size of Bucknell's enrollment, 1,500 men, the gridders were forced to learn both offensive and defensive maneuvers. Coach Lawrence feels that the new limited substitution rule "will save the Bison's hide—if it is to be saved." Reserve strength even one platoon is fairly thin.

Picked by various pigskin mystics to have a 7-2 log this year, one reason being to Holy Cross, the Lawmen may upset the pre-season prognosticators this Saturday. Personally, I would take BU on an even wager . . . any takers?

PETE BIOCCA BATTERS FORWARD LINES WITH SMASHING THRUSTS

In the Fall of 1949, a young man breezed from Aquinas Institute to the Hill for the start of his freshman year. His name, immortal now, was Charlie Maloy.

Second Half Attack Spurs Purple To 19-6 Victory Over Red Raiders

By Howie Nolan

Last Saturday afternoon under warm, sunny skies, Holy Cross' 1953 football edition pulled themselves out of a first half rut and came on to win convincingly in the second half by the score of 19-6 over Colgate.

Stymied in the first half, more by their own mistakes and seemingly lethargic play than by Colgate's power, the Purple quickly came to life in the third quarter. Their line play suddenly became vicious and the plays began to click. About midway through the third quarter, the Crusaders made their first move. Jack Carroll, a great end all day, slashed through the line and recovered a Colgate fumble on the latter's 33. Six plays later the Crusaders had racked up their first score. Pete Biocca picked up six yards on a counter play. Then the starting Bill Haley made a first down on the Colgate 23 in two stabs at the line. After Biocca failed to gain, Gene Schiller darted seven yards to the 16. With third down and three yards to gain for a first down, Haley, running left from his "T" quarter back post, stopped and threw toward the left corner. There the towering Carroll had slipped in behind two Colgate defenders and stepped over the goal line for the score. Schiller's kick was no good.

The Purple struck again in a matter of minutes. After Colgate failed to gain on the ensuing kick-off, they punted into the Holy Cross end zone. The Crusaders put the ball in play on their own 20, and proceeded to march eighty yards for their next touchdown in ten plays. The march was featured by the hard running of Worcester's Warren O'Donnell and the quick, elusive Haley. The long gainer of the sequence was a 28 yard pass from Schiller to Tom Carstens which put the ball on the Colgate eleven. Haley crashed over from the two three plays later and O'Donnell added the point to increase the score to 13-0.

Colgate returned the next kickoff to their 35. They lost 25 yards in three plays and then punted short to their own 39. From there, the Purple started another touchdown march. With chunky Pete Biocca, and O'Donnell ripping off the yardage, the Crusaders moved to the Colgate one, where on fourth down, Haley once more wiggled his way into the end zone. O'Donnell's kick sailed wide and Holy Cross led 19-0.

Colgate finally scored their lone touchdown in the waning seconds of the game. After intercepting a Bill Haley pass on their own eight, the Red Raiders from the Chenango Valley moved 92 yards to paydirt in nine plays. Six completed passes by

EARL LAVERY AND MARK FOLEY PLUG FORWARD WALL IN BIG WAY

By Matt Boylan

"Barkus is willing" and like the famous Dicken's character so also are the two behemoths of the Holy Cross forward wall, "Little" Earl Lavery and Mark Foley. Trained and groomed since freshman year for the defensive tackle spots when they both held down starting positions, Earl and Mark, because they lack the requisite speed and split second timing essential to offensive football are the victims of the controversial one-platoon system.

First Year on Offense

"Little" Earl, though his massive stature belies the fact (he packs two hundred and forty pounds onto a six foot five inch frame) only took up the game in his senior year at Fairfield Prep. There, he was strictly a defensive tackle and a very good one. Arriving at the Cross, he soon won a starting slot on the Freshman team, saw limited action in Sophomore year and in Junior year flashed evidence of becoming a real defensive stand-out. A bit of that evidence was a very creditable performance against Temple last year; a game which was played during a blinding rain storm. Earl was the outstanding defensive lineman of the day.

Affable Earl, with his repertoire of Irish songs, possesses the mental and personal equipment to revamp Bridgeport's political thinking.

Hard-hitting Mark Foley, one of the most promising prospects to enter the Cross in the fall of 1950, has not reached the gridiron heights in college that he attained previously. Tutored at St. John's Prep in Worcester by Bob Devlin, former Holy Cross letter winner, Mark played four years of varsity ball and was an all-

Worcester Frosh Stage Major Upset In Victory Over Carlin Seniors, 2-0

Monday, September 28, marked the opening of the intramural football season here on Mount St. James. The results of the week's festivities are as follows:

Carlin I 9; Worc. Juniors 0

The campus Seniors held the townsmen Juniors scoreless in a hard-fought battle. Jack Callahan scored Carlin's sole touchdown and Dick Gralton added the conversion. Tom Dolan was responsible for the Carlinite's final two points when he nabbed a junior back in the end zone for a safety.

Carlin III 12; Wheeler I 2

Paced by the Howie Nolan-Neil Murphy passing combo, the seniors coasted to a twelve-two triumph over the sophomore outfit.

Worc. Frosh 2; Carlin I 0

The Frosh scored one of the week's major upsets by dumping the senior outfit. Defense featured most of the game as both lines controlled the play.

Fenwick IV 6; Wheeler I 0

The boys from Fenwick sparked by the all around play of Joe Wojzala, emerged victorious in a closely fought contest. Wojzala raced over for the only score of the day.

Alumni II 3; Beaven II 2

The Alumni squad squeezed out a close one from their junior counterparts. The score was knotted two-two at the end of regulation time. In the overtime session the Alumni contingent outgained the Beaven team to notch the point that meant victory. Both squads' initial points came on safeties.

The Lambert Trophy

The pre-season choices for the East's most coveted football award have all started off slowly. The teams which were picked to head the list were Syracuse, Villanova, and Princeton. Last year's champion smashed past Temple, 42-0, in their initial outing but were humbled by a lightly regarded Boston University eleven. Only a last half rally saved the Orange from their first defeat since the New Year's Day adventure. The game ended in a 14-14 tie.

The Wildcats have already eliminated themselves from any possible trophy consideration. The Wake Forest Deacons handed them their third consecutive defeat last Saturday. An ironic twist to this Philadelphia story is that Villanova is assured of financial success. For the past few years, the club has enjoyed outstanding won-lost seasons but has so suffered at the gate that the authorities considered dropping the sport. Credit for this unique situation goes to a progressive publicity director. By selling tickets to business enterprises, he managed to have Municipal Stadium packed for the home opener with Georgia.

The third club mentioned still has an unblemished record. But the perennial Eastern power has been pushed by two foes considered only as tuneups for the tougher tests. The Tigers beat both Lafayette and Columbia with last quarter touchdowns. The Pennsylvanians and the Lions had one touchdown leads going into the fatal session. Neither win was convincing statistically.

A couple of teams not reckoned with before the season's start have come into the picture. Our cousins from Rose Hill handed Detroit a 21-7 pasting on Friday night and appear to have a fine moving offense centered around Roger Franz and Vinnie Drake. Pennsylvania, despite all pre-season reports to the contrary has shown the makings of a powerhouse in two victorious outings.

And Us

The big question is our position with regard to the Lambert Trophy. Our chances are much better than at this time last year. In two games, the squad has displayed a well diversified attack. With three formations and three well qualified passers to go along with a fine running game, the opposition will find it difficult to set up defensive formations.

The team has shown the ability to make the most of the enemy's mistakes. This is the mark of a great team. It was the recovery of a Colgate fumble deep in Maroon territory that led to the first score and it was the recovery of another fumble that prevented the Red Raiders from scoring in the second quarter.

The biggest weakness, as it has been for the past few years, is pass defense. Both touchdowns against us have come through the air. But these scores were made after victory was insured and with reserves in the lineup. Other long gains have been made against the first stringers but they have tightened up once the opposition neared the goal line. This imperfection does not appear to be chronic and should be straightened out by the time the Quantico test rolls around.

The line has held up strongly in both tussles. There have been holes for the backs to drive through and fine protection has been afforded the passers. On defense, the line has been almost impenetrable. At times, they may have given the quarterback too much time. On many other occasions, they have dropped the passer for large losses.

This about closes the analysis of Eastern and Holy Cross football. The bulk of the season still lies ahead. Teams down now may be in the thick of the trophy battle come December. Army or Penn State may be among the elevens to bounce back. Only time will tell.

county selection the last three. Preparing at Cushing Academy, he was the standout ballplayer and captain of the team.

After a successful frosh season in which he was a first-string defensive player, this six-foot three, two hundred and twenty pounder ran into some hard luck. Hampered by injuries during his sophomore year,

Mark did not receive the actual game-fire experience which he needed to break into the lineup the following year. Now it is one-platoon football and his diligent efforts to regain the offensive lore of his high school days makes him a valuable asset to have around.

HOLY CROSS SKIPPERS TIE FOR SECOND SLOT AT THE COAST GUARD

This past week end the Holy Cross sailing team competed in a double dual at the Coast Guard Academy while the Frosh had a regatta at Tufts.

Down at New London varsity skippers Bob Perry, John O'Toole, Kirk Walsh and Austin O'Toole together with crews Tom Conneen, Bruce McConnachie, Bob Daly and Pete Roche emerged in a tie for second place honors with Williams. According to the A.P., a sailoff will be held with the winner qualifying, together with Coast Guard for the Fowle Trophy, the team racing championship of New England. The morning races were sailed in winds up to 25 mph but in the afternoon conditions were somewhat better for racing.

In the Freshmen meet at Tufts the Holy Cross yearlings placed third in a lineup which listed eight colleges from New England. Austin O'Toole proved to be the big point getter as he swept to victory over the other Frosh skippers in the A division with a total of 32 points. Harvard and Rhode Island were runnerups with 28 apiece.

INTRAMURALS—

Wheeler V 6; O'Kane III 0

The Frosh from Wheeler topped their class mates on McCarthy's score in a hard fought nip and tuck battle.

Carlin III 7; Wheeler III 6

The Carlinites out gained the second year men from Wheeler in an overtime period to eke out a seven-six victory in a closely waged contest. Paul Dupuis scored the victor's lone tally. Prebenda crossed the goal strip for the losers.

Beaven II 14; Fenwick Dorm 6

Tom McLoughlin and Marsh Whalen tallied once each and generated too much power for the dorm crew. Larry Dou registered the Frosh's score.

Alumni I 14; Worc. Soph's 0

The senior-junior combine had too much stuff for the commuted Dan Drees and Jerry Berigan scored for the victors with big Don M. adding both conversions.

Worcester Seniors 7; Wheeler 11

The seniors squeezed out a one from the soph array on Don Drees' conversion. Lameroux scored winner's touchdown, while Dan F. tallied for the losers on a pass to Si Leis.

Wheeler IV 6; Fenwick Dorm 0

Tony Karpawich registered only touchdown of the game as men from Wheeler handed the Dorm their second defeat.

Carlin III and Beaven III scored victories of two to nothing over Alumni III contingent. Champion won their game by the same margin.

Twin Oracles Predict Week End Grid Clashes

By Dave Janick and Gene Schayer

Last week these two writers (?) had the misfortune of losing our last quarter in an illicit football pool. The sports editor, upon seeing our rejection and unable to lend us any money, offered us the opportunity to pick them free of charge this week.

First of all let's take a look at this week's H.C. tilt. It will be the Crusaders over invading Bucknell by a wide margin, say in the neighborhood of four touchdowns. The Bisons, in our opinion, will be way out of their class Saturday.

Fordham over Syracuse — The Orange pass defense is too porous to stop the thrusts of Franz and Drake, as the Rams seek their best season in almost a decade.

Navy over Cornell — The boys from Ithaca are no match for the power-laden Middies. The Maryland gunboat will continue to float this Saturday.

Army over Dartmouth — The armed forces are ganging up on the Big Green this year. Quantico next?

Villanova over B.C.—These schools both have schedule difficulties as they are playing teams out of their class. But the boys from the other end of the turnpike don't figure to have as much as Villanova.

Ohio State over Illinois — Nothing will stop the Buckeyes' bid for a Rose Bowl trip, especially with Borton throwing and Cassaday running. The Illini, usually fairly powerful, just don't have it this year.

Michigan State over T.C.U.—With the one platoon system now digested into its style of play, M.S.C. will remain unbeaten until it runs up against Ohio State.

Texas over Oklahoma — This week's nationally televised game must be given to Texas on the basis that the Longhorns are the home team. If the Sooners win, however, it won't be an upset.

Georgia Tech over Tulane — The Engineers are due to bounce back after two consecutive dismal showings against Florida and Southern Methodist.

California over Penn — Cal gets the call here because of its fine signal caller, Paul Larsen. But don't be surprised if this one backfires.

U.C.L.A. over Wisconsin — The Bruins seem to be on the "road to the roses." The loss of quarterback Jim Haluska for the entire season has rendered the Badgers a Big Ten also-ran.

Marquette over Indiana — This game will find the Hilltoppers getting back on the right road after a close loss to Wisconsin last week.

U.S.C. over Washington — The Trojans will continue to hold down the number two west coast ranking after this one. Washington doesn't have the replacement for Don Heinrich.

Now for the "Upset of the Week." It'll be B.U. over Penn State. Although the Nittany Lions figure to walk off with it, the Terriers will be playing this one for Johnny Pappas.

Now the "Flip of the Coin Special." For this one we travel to Salt Lake City, Utah, where Utah and Utah State clash in the first annual "Mormon Bowl." Although we weren't able to cull much information on these two squads, we were fortunate enough to run into a gent by the name of Young who seemed to know quite a bit about the teams. He suggested that we choose Utah over Utah State.

So we'll go along with him and see what happens.

COLGATE GAME—

lanky Dick Lalla featured the march, the final one to Charley Cooley covered eleven yards and was good for the score. Nardulli's kick was low, and that was the ball game.

Although the Crusaders failed to score in the first half, they did succeed in moving the ball well especially in the second quarter when they drove inside the Colgate 30 three times, once getting as far as the seven before fumbling. Most of the yard gaining in this quarter was done by Tom "Chick" Murphy. He picked up sixty-seven yards in five carries in this quarter, and added another jaunt of 25 yards which was nullified by a penalty. This was to be his total for the afternoon though, as he sat out the second half.

It is hard to pick out any individual stars but Jack Carroll along with Joe Harrington and Mike Cooney impressed particularly.

National Honors Com
To Many Cross Grad

Holy Cross men, both graduates and current students, have been recipients of national honors, according to a recent release from the Public Office.

Graduate Robert F. Kiley graduated cum laude from Yale Medical School on June 8. He was one of five among the graduates to receive the special degree for outstanding work during his four year medical course. The award was presented at the annual Dean's reception for faculty and the graduating medical class.

Graduate John Leo Doppman was among the five members of the graduating class this June at the Medical School to receive his degree cum laude.

On July 31, 1953, the NROTC Unit received word that Midshipman 2/c John Alan Barry, '55, USN, received the highest aptitude mark among 822 midshipmen participating in the amphibious phase of the Amphibious Summer Training. This aptitude mark was based on aptitude, performance of duty, leadership, bearing and dress, and the examination, which covered the amphibious training received during the summer training period.

The 35 students from the College of the Holy Cross stood sixth in aptitude average among twenty NROTC institutions represented.

Math Honors

Edwin A. Traynor, '54, was given a prize award of $100 for ranking among the first nine undergraduates taking the General Mathematics examination given by the Society of Mathematics Activities. Students from the United States and Canada took the examination which covered topics from algebra and calculus. Traynor is a graduate of Brooklyn Prep and a math major.

George V. Franks, who graduated last June, was among the contestants who passed the special examination on finite differences, probability and statistics.

HAIR CARE

Joseph A. Vitalone, leading Hair and Scalp consultant of Walter Associates, Suite 213, 29 Park Street, Worcester, says: "If your hair is dry and your scalp is itchy and laden with scale, or if your hair line is receding you should come in for a free consultation and examination. We do not cut your hair but we may be able to save the hair you now have.

Our treatments are priced moderately and are payable as you receive them. No one is ever accepted for treatment unless we feel beneficial results will be obtained. We guarantee results by the 4th treatment or all the money spent for treatments will be refunded."

Hours: Mon. thru Fri., 11 A.M. until 8:30 P.M.; Sat., 11 A.M. until 4:00 P.M. Call 7-1111 for an appointment today. Special Rates for Holy Cross students.

SMOKERS BY THE THOUSANDS

NOW CHANGING TO CHESTERFIELD

the ONLY cigarette ever to give you...

PROOF of LOW NICOTINE HIGHEST QUALITY

The country's six leading cigarette brands were analyzed—chemically—and Chesterfield was found low in nicotine—highest in quality.

A PROVEN RECORD with smokers

Again and again, over a full year and a half a group of Chesterfield smokers have been given thorough medical examinations... the doctor's reports are a matter of record, "No adverse effects to the nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfields." A responsible independent research laboratory supervises this continuing program.
